

Behold the King

His Victory Won – John 20 (p. 906) & 1 Corinthians 15 (p. 961)

On Easter Sunday, we don't just celebrate an event, we behold a King—risen and victorious. The Gospels give us the evidence of His resurrection, and Paul, in 1 Corinthians 15, explains its meaning. The empty tomb invites us not into blind faith, but into belief that brings life and victory through Jesus the King.

Behold, the Risen King

The Empty Tomb

The Appearances of Jesus

The Nail-Marked Hands

Behold, the Victorious King

Without the resurrection of Christ...

our faith is futile

we are still in our sins

With the resurrection of Christ...

we have victory over sin and death

we have life in His name

Reflection and Action: Like Thomas—and so many others—do you confess Jesus as your Lord and your God because He is risen from the dead?
